

SQUAXIN ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

Squaxin Island Tribe, Washington

Size: 24,000 sq. ft.
Contractor: TOMCO Construction, Inc.
Cost: $2.8 Million
Completion: May 2004

TOMCO Construction, Inc., teamed with HGE, Inc., in this design/build project which was fast-tracked to be completed within a 10-month period. The administration building houses the Tribal Council, Department of Community Development, and the Accounting, Human Resources, Planning, and Information Technology departments. The Council Chambers and executive offices are situated in the one-story south branch of the building, with all other departments located in the two-story north end. Both sections are connected by a two-story high Great Hall/Main Entrance.
